DESCRIPTION:

This engaging training will provide participants a hands-on opportunity to explore Google Chrome Apps and Extensions through a UDL lens. UDL is a framework to optimize learning for all students and contains 3 major components. The three major components are multiple means of engagement, multiple means of representation and multiple means of expression. Participants will be introduced to the concepts and how the 3 principals can benefit ALL LEARNERS. Google Chrome is a powerful web browser that has the ability to enhance the web browsing experience through apps and extensions.

OUTCOMES

1. Participants will be able to define the 3 major principals of UDL.
2. Participants will be able to list and integrate 3 Chrome apps to support UDL.
3. Participants will be able to list and integrate Chrome extensions that support UDL.

ABOUT THE PRESENTER

Jennifer has been in the field of assistive technology for over 20 years. She has worked for UCP-Infinitec as an Assistive Technology Facilitator for the past 15 years. She performs collaborations and provides trainings in the areas of reading, writing, AAC, and UDL. Prior to working at Infinitec she worked at a special education cooperative on an Assistive Technology Team. While there she supported the assistive technology needs of students with low incidence to high incidence disabilities.

Jennifer loves what technology can do for all students!
